INTRODUCTION.

Chinese path to modernization not only embodies the common characteristics of modernization in all countries, but more importantly, it is combined with China's basic national conditions and the development and changes of itself and the world. It has Chinese characteristics and is a new path that is different from Western modernization. This process not only changes the destiny of the Chinese people, but also provides new options for other developing countries in the world to achieve modernization, and also provides wisdom for the overall future development of mankind. China's excellent traditional culture has always adhered to the pursuit of "peace is paramount", "harmony among all nations", and "university of the world". Under the guidance of this concept, the Chinese path to modernization proposed by China is not a modernization that seeks to isolate itself, but looks forward to the common development of all nations. The vast number of developing countries are realizing modernization together. This kind of world modernization is a modernization path based on peaceful development and win-win cooperation. What kind of modernization path and model a country chooses is closely related to its historical and cultural traditions. Since 2012, China has put forward the goal of building a community with a shared future for humanity. Building a community with a shared future for humanity is an essential requirement for China to achieve Chinese path to modernization at this stage of its development. It is a manifestation of China's mind for the world and its responsibility as a great country. It is a manifestation of seeking progress for mankind and seeking great harmony for the world. It is also a manifestation of China's insistence on the path of peaceful development. It reflects the trend of human development and progress and reflects China's determination to join hands with other countries to build a better world.

I. CHINESE-STYLE MODERNIZATION AND THE CONNOTATION OF A COMMUNITY WITH A SHARED FUTURE FOR MANKIND

"Modernization" is a worldwide objective phenomenon. It refers to the historical process of human society's transformation from traditional civilization to social civilization. Achieving modernization is the common dream of all countries in the world. Chinese path to modernization is a time path that a large developing country like China has explored in line with its own development. Chinese path to modernization declares that there is neither a single modernization model nor a universal modernization standard in the world. There is more than one path to modernization. Facts have proved that no nation or country in human history can rely on external forces, copy foreign models, and follow others to achieve strength and revitalization. This is just like what is sung in "The Internationale": "There has never been a savior, nor a fairy emperor. To create human happiness, it all depends on ourselves." Chinese path to modernization has expanded the path to achieve modernization and breaks the inherent concept of "modernization = Westernization". Every country should independently explore a modernization path that suits its own national conditions.

In 2022, the promotion of building a community with a shared future for humanity will be clarified as the essential requirement of Chinese path to modernization, and Chinese path to modernization will be given a lofty mission.

The basic connotation of a community with a shared future for humanity is to jointly build a world of lasting peace, universal security, common prosperity, openness, inclusiveness, cleanness and beauty. It aims to take into account the legitimate concerns of other countries when pursuing its own interests, and to promote the common development of all countries while pursuing its own development. Community is the basic way of human existence. Human society has been organized in the form of community from the beginning. A community with a shared future will also be the ideal form of human society in the future. In the face of a global crisis, countries are not riding on more than 200 small boats, but on one big ship with a shared future.

On the path to a community with a shared future for humanity, we must: adhere to mutual respect and equal treatment among all countries; adhere to win-win cooperation and common development; adhere to the security of common, comprehensive, cooperative, and sustainable development; adhere to the inclusiveness and exchanges of different civilizations, Learn each other.

II. CHINESE PATH TO MODERNIZATION HELPS BUILD A COMMUNITY WITH A SHARED FUTURE FOR HUMANITY

Chinese path to modernization and a community with a shared future for humanity are not two unrelated concepts. They are China's current answers to the changes of the times and history in the world. They are innovative theories and creative revolutionary practices that influence and promote each other with distinct unity. The two are interconnected. First, promoting the construction of a community with a shared future for humanity is one of the essential requirements of Chinese path to modernization. Chinese path to modernization is a bridge and link that closely connects the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation with the future and destiny of all mankind. By promoting the construction of a community with a shared future for humanity, Chinese path to modernization has been given a lofty mission of the times. Secondly, the two are mutually reinforcing. Chinese path to modernization provides a Chinese plan for reference for people around the world to achieve modernization, helps developing countries achieve modernization, is conducive to enhancing the common well-being of the international community, and promotes the realization of a community with a shared future for humanity.

Chinese path to modernization has five characteristics, and all five characteristics reflect the positive significance of building a community with a shared future for humanity:

First, modernization with a huge population. So far, the total population of countries in the world that have achieved modernization does not exceed 1 billion, and China has a population of more than 1.4 billion. Modernizing a population of 1.4 billion will make world modernization a big step forward. Chinese path to modernization with a population of 1.4 billion will not only provide great encouragement to people around the world, but also provide more opportunities for the world market and provide a material basis for promoting the construction of a community with a shared future for humanity.

Second, modernization that brings prosperity to all the people. The connotation of common prosperity involves two aspects: "prosperity" and "community". "Prosperity" relies on development, and "community" relies on fairness. Realizing the people's yearning for a better life is the starting point and goal of Chinese path to modernization. We strive to promote the common prosperity of all people, strive to maintain social fairness and justice, and resolutely prevent polarization. Common prosperity is not only the beautiful expectation of the Chinese people, but also the common pursuit of people around the world. This is consistent with the concept of building a community with a shared future for humanity featuring universal security and common prosperity.

Third, modernization that harmonizes material civilization and spiritual civilization. Continuously build the material foundation of modernization, develop the advanced culture of contemporary Chinese society, and achieve modernization that comprehensively enriches things and comprehensively develops people while inheriting civilization. In China, while Chinese path to modernization improves the country's material foundation, it also vigorously develops its advanced culture and inherits China's excellent traditional culture. While promoting material development, it also promotes human development. Internationally, China emphasizes the establishment of a civilizational outlook of equality, mutual learning, dialogue, and inclusiveness, transcends civilizational barriers through exchanges of civilizations, transcends conflicts of civilizations through mutual learning among civilizations, and vigorously promote the common values of peace, development, fairness, justice, democracy, and freedom for all mankind, and help build a community with a shared future for humanity.

Fourth, modernization in which man and nature coexist harmoniously. The unity of nature and man is the traditional philosophical thought of the Chinese nation, and it is also the fundamental principle of the Chinese nation. Chinese path to modernization follows the path of green development and promotes the harmonious coexistence of man and nature. It is development that can meet the needs of the present generation without jeopardizing the ability of future generations to meet their needs. Instead of following the old path of pollution first and treatment later, we should balance the relationship between economic development and environmental protection. In China, to accelerate the new quality productive forces, lead development with innovation, and get rid of the traditional economic growth model. As we all know, economic growth under traditional productivity conditions mainly relies on large amounts of resource input and highly consumed resources and energy. And "greening" is one of the key improvements in the new quality productive forces. Internationally, China proposes to jointly build a community of life on earth, emphasizing the construction of ecological civilization as a guide and coordinating the relationship between man and nature; using green transformation as a driver to help global sustainable development, and using practical actions to promote the achievement of peak carbon dioxide emissions and carbon neutrality. Work with other countries to build a community of life on earth. This is consistent with the idea of "building a clean and beautiful world" embodied in the concept of a community with a shared future for humanity.

Fifth, pursue modernization on the path of peaceful development. Chinese path to modernization is a modernization that develops peacefully in benign interaction with the world. Its development process is a process of safeguarding world peace and promoting international development. It breaks through the regional narrowness and field limitations of modernization that are only conducive to its own economic growth. It demonstrates the overall contribution and new significance of modernization to world peace and international order. Chinese path to modernization is essentially mutually beneficial and win-win. It is a distinctive feature of developing together with the world through opening up and constantly giving back to the world during development. China has always adhered to the principle of balancing justice and interests and putting justice first, and is committed to enhancing the development capabilities of all countries, improving the international development environment, actively promoting international development cooperation, and promoting the common development of all countries. The joint construction of the "Belt and Road" embodies the moral responsibility of Chinese path to modernization for mutual benefit and win-win, benefiting oneself and benefiting others. Chinese path to modernization promotes the construction of a community with a shared future for mankind under the banner of peace, development, cooperation, and win-win, and emphasizes modernization on peace and development. It is consistent with the "lasting peace" environment advocated by building a community with a shared future for humanity.

III CONCLUSION

Chinese path to modernization is a modernization path in line with its own development characteristics. It provides new reference for developing countries. Western modernization practices and models are no longer the only option. Uncertainty and instability in today's world have increased significantly. In response to the questions of the times: "What's wrong with the world?" and "What should we do?", China's plan is to build a community with a shared future for humanity. This is also an essential requirement of Chinese path to modernization. Chinese path to modernization also provides new theoretical and practical paths for building a community with a shared future for humanity.
